

Strong where it matters, smooth where it counts. Sabert Corporation Europe launches next generation paper cutlery

Sabert Corporation Europe has unveiled the latest generation of its paper cutlery range, combining enhanced strength, improved comfort and a smoother eating experience with practical end-of-life credentials.

Developed in response to growing demand for high performance fibre-based alternatives, the redesigned range delivers greater durability and grip while remaining recyclable and certified TÜV OK Compost Home.

Paper cutlery that performs

“We're proud to introduce the latest evolution of our paper cutlery range,” says Kévin Fidalgo, Product & Innovations Manager at Sabert Corporation Europe. “Customers are no longer willing to compromise between sustainability goals and product performance. This latest development delivers a stronger, smoother and more comfortable eating experience, helping operators meet evolving customer expectations.”

The updated size and shape have been carefully refined to improve handling and ergonomics, creating a more balanced feel in use. Stronger neck performance and reinforced tines provide greater durability and reliability, while the redesigned profile offers improved grip and comfort, even when used with more demanding food types.

Whether used for takeaway, catering, workplace dining or food-to-go applications, the new range has been engineered to deliver a more natural and enjoyable user experience.

Designed with efficient use of materials in mind

Alongside the performance improvements, the new generation range benefits from manufacturing process enhancements that make more efficient use of materials.

“Continuous improvement is an important part of our product development approach,” says Isabelle Ernotte, Quality, Environment, Health & Safety Manager at Sabert Corporation Europe. “We've further optimised our manufacturing process and a proportion of production waste is reintroduced into the pulping process at our manufacturing site. This supports efficient use of materials while maintaining the high quality standards our customers expect.”

The range remains recyclable where suitable collection systems exist and is certified TÜV OK Compost Home.

Paper cutlery without compromise

The launch represents another step forward in Sabert Corporation Europe's commitment to developing practical, high performing paper-based foodservice solutions.

“With this latest innovation, we're delivering a paper cutlery solution that combines strength, comfort and functionality,” concludes Fidalgo. “The result is a product that feels better in the hand, performs more reliably during use and responds to the growing demand for high quality fibre-based alternatives.”

The latest generation paper cutlery range builds on Sabert Corporation Europe's ongoing investment in product development, combining enhanced user experience with manufacturing improvements to deliver a stronger, smoother and more reliable solution for foodservice operators and consumers alike.
